

Taiwan Patent Services

TAP INTO TAIWAN'S PATENT POTENTIAL

Despite its small size, Taiwan is one of the world's most important patent markets and a key producer and partner for nearly every high tech industry. Taiwan is the gateway to hundreds of millions of products produced and sold each year, and with a maturing intellectual property system and strengthening enforcement, is an essential part of any global intellectual property strategy.

Whether you are patenting for commercialization, licensing rights, or simply as a defensive/offensive strategy, NAIP's extensive Taiwan IP experience can help you realize the full value of your inventions.

WHY CHOOSE NAIP?

HIGH TECH PATENT EXPERTS

NAIP patent engineers have been examiners at the Taiwan Intellectual Property Office, in-house patent engineers, R&D engineers and even inventors. As a result, they are not only experts on patent drafting rules and requirements, they technical specialists who can easily understand the latest inventions—and how to best protect them. To provide even higher quality service, NAIP patent engineers focus on specific technologies and countries, ensuring that no matter what technology and patent office, NAIP can match you with the most suitable patent engineer.

FLUENT IN CHINESE, ENGLISH & PATENTS

In addition to English, Mandarin and Taiwanese fluency, NAIP staff and engineers undergo immersive training in key patent concepts, systems and laws of various patent offices. This allows them to easily follow client instructions, understand the nuances of an invention, and even provide key strategic insights to strengthen an application or strategy.

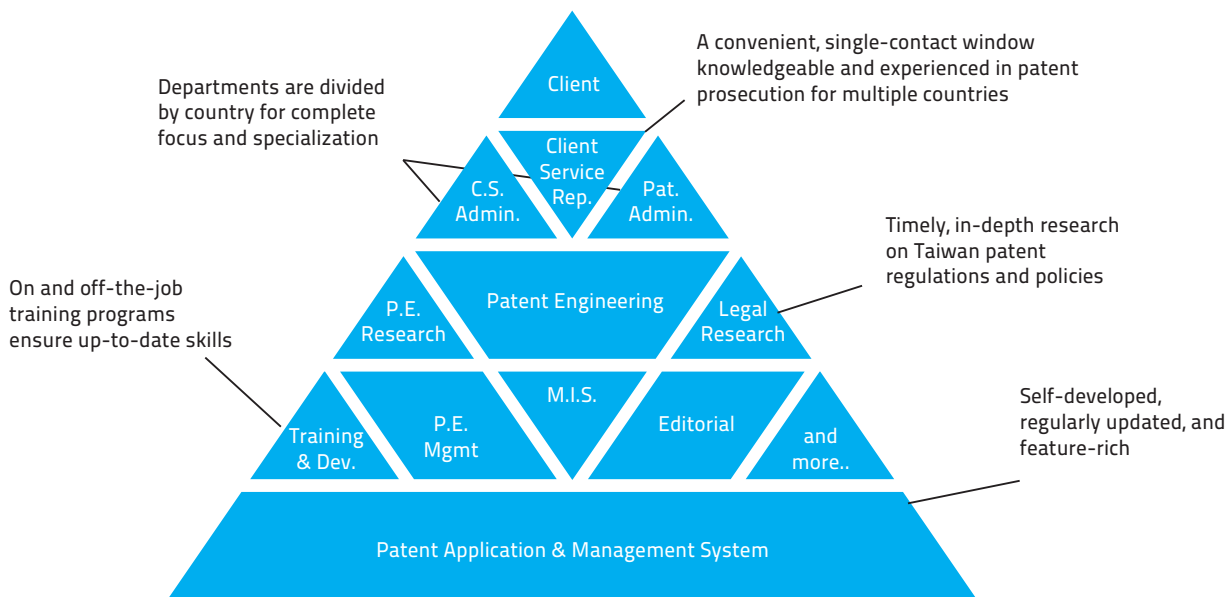

RELIABLE & COST-EFFECTIVE

Dealing directly with NAIP not only speeds up the patenting process, eliminating translation delays and misdirected communications, but also cuts unnecessary middle-man costs. Furthermore, NAIP services are billed by project, not by the hour, to ensure our focus is on getting the work done right and on time.

A SPECIALIZED & SUPPORT-FOCUSED SERVICE FIRM

NAIP's organizational structure is designed for efficiency, specialization and timely professional support to key personnel and clients.
